“Believe in Your Magic”

A Motivational Presentation

Keynotes, sales conferences, spouse programs, and breakout sessions sparkle when you “Believe in Your Magic.” Professional speaker Mary Ann Campbell, CFP, can teach you the tips and tricks you need to find your own magic.

Patty DeDominic, President of PDW Personnel Services in Los Angeles says, “I heard numerous positive statements about your speech & performance, not only right after your presentation, but in the following several days. Your style and message are unforgettable.”

Using her powerful slogan—“the magic comes from YOU, and you CAN do it!”—Mary Ann delivers a clear message with impact. During her professional presentations, she will teach you how to better handle yourself and others as you deal with change and successful teamwork.

The events of September 11, 2001 changed America forever. Americans are awake, aware, and often filled with anxiety. Although we cannot always control what is happening around or to us, we can control how we react and cope. Our happiness, sense of security, and productivity relate directly to our belief in ourselves and our capacity to deal with the world in which we live.

Chambers of Commerce, Associations, and Educators are among the many groups who have found Mary Ann’s message effective and appreciated by their organizations. She presents a meaningful and motivational five-point program that can jumpstart your conference or draw large crowds to your break out sessions. Her points are to:

- Make a plan: Knowing what is important and putting first things first in your life removes self doubt and establishes the firm foundation most of us seek.

- Accept Responsibility: When you accept the difficult, you build your self esteem by the sense of pride you develop from your accomplishments.
- Give thanks: Gratitude is not only the most important virtue, it is the parent of all others; the healing virtue. Acknowledging our blessings improves moral.
- Invent as you go: Innovation, creativity, and entrepreneurship are all trademarks of Americans. Using your creativity adds zest, interest, and enjoyment to your life.
- Come up laughing, loving, and learning: Humor is God's way of helping us smile in difficult times. As we smile, our capacity to love multiplies. We are blessed to live in a country where life long learning is an option for all.

When you believe in the magic within yourself, you can reduce stress and self-doubt in your life. Mary Ann uses humor and audience participation to involve your participants and insure they have a good time. So relax, enjoy and learn practical information to use in your life and your business. The magic comes from YOU, and you CAN do it!
